QUESTION MARK BREAKS ENDURANCE RECORD

5 ARMY FLIERS AND THEIR PLANE CONQUER AIR

ANNEXED MARVELOUS FIGURE
OF OVER 150 HOURS' CON-TINUOUS FLIGHT

UNOFFICIALLY PLANE BROKE
ALL ENDURANCE
MARKS

Los Angeles, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Five army fliers and their plane, Question Mark, stood today the conquerors of all records for endurance flight.

Their plane, named significantly because it was to answer the question of how long an airplane could stay aloft when refueled, came to earth yesterday with the marvelous figure of 150 hours, 45 minutes and 16 seconds aloft as its record.

The five aviators, who flew an airplane longer than anyone else in the world before them, planned to return to their craft today. One of them perhaps loves the big plane even more than the others because he watched its motors through the arduous flight of six and a half days and had to be dragged away to rest when the trip ended.

It was Sergeant Roy W. Hove, mechanic, who crept along the narrow catwalk of the side of the plane to tend the engines during the flight.

When the grease stained ship landed at Metropolitan airport yesterday, Sergeant Hove protested against others experimenting with the plane.

"No, by God," he shouted, "I watched her all through the days in the air. Nobody else is going to take care of her now."

With him on the visit to the Question Mark will be Major Carl Spatz, commander of the flight; Capt. Ira Eaker, who piloted through 33 dangerous refuelings in mid-air, and Lieuts. Elwood Quesada and A. H. Halverson, relief pilots.

Hove will make a preliminary check today in an effort to determine why the left hand motor went dead 2,500 feet in the air and the right hand motor suddenly began to pump oil so badly that a landing was made necessary.

The true cause probably will not be known until after the plane is flown to Rockwell field at San Diego, where the engines will be placed on test blocks by Wright aeronautical engineers.

Whatever the trouble, it developed without warning after the engines had recovered from a threatened termination of the flight Saturday and Sunday.

Unofficially the Question Mark broke all endurance records, but officially it will be credited with only two—the American refueling endurance of 37 hours, 40 seconds, and the world's refueling endurance of 60 hours, 7 minutes, taken from the Belgians, Crooy and Groenen.

The Question Mark passed the world's sustained flight record for heavier than air craft held by the Germans, Ristetz and Zimmerman, who flew 65 hours and 25 minutes, but could not acquire it because of refueling.

Neither could it win the record of the dirigible Dixmude, which previously had been in the air longer than any other aircraft. The Dixmude, which was up 118 hours, was a lighter than air ship. But by exceeding the 118 hours the Question Mark did succeed to the Dixmude's honor of longest sustained flight.

The five army fliers of the Question Mark showed no ill effects of their long confinement. They were slightly deaf while in the air and when they first landed, but more than anything else needed a shave, a warm bath and real sleep.

A physical examination by army doctors at Glover field, Santa Monica an hour after the flight ended, revealed that the heart action of all the crew was normal but that each had lost a few pounds.

Army officials and the crew were greatly elated over the result of the flight.

Major Spatz declared it had proved conclusively the practicability of refueling in trans-Atlantic, cross country and commercial flying.

Captain Eaker even went so far as to predict that the future would see aerial filling stations for planes.

The refueling and contacts, with the planes often only five or ten feet apart were amazingly simple, Eaker said. About 5,000 gallons of gasoline, 225 gallons of oil and other supplies were transferred.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Major Carl Spatz and his Question Mark crew probably will be awarded distinguished flying crosses for their endur-

COST BLACKMER $200,000 AVOIDING RETURN TO AMERICA

Washington, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Refusal of Harry M. Blackmer, Denver oil multimillionaire, to return from Paris to testify in the Sinclair-Fall Teapot Dome trials, has now cost him $200,000.

U. S. Marshal Snyder has just taken over $100,000 from Blackmer's attorneys, under the Walsh law providing for seizure of that amount on contempt charges in the case of such recalcitrant witnesses. If the contempt of court charge is upheld, the money will be confiscated by the government.

This is the second $100,000 seizure.

WITCHCRAFT MAY BE AIRED IN YORK MURDER TRIAL

ALLEGED PRACTICED IN REGION
AROUND YORK,
PA.

REHMEYER MURDER TRIAL NOW IN PROGRESS IN TOWN

York, Pa., Jan. 8.—(UP)—Whether witchcraft, as practised by many in this region, is to be aired in the Rehmeier murder trial was to be determined today.

The groundwork had been laid for a robbery motive at the opening session of the trial of John Blymyer, alleged "witch doctor" charged with the killing and burning of Nelson Rehmeier, a farmer.

Should the trial turn to witchcraft—and witchery originally was alleged to be at the root of the killing of Rehmeier—the evidence promises to shed a wealth of light on the strange charms and incantations in which many hereabout believe.

Blymyer, who for a fee held "powwows" drove out evil spells and "cured" many ailments, is charged by the state with being the ringleader in the Rehmeier killing. His two companions in the effort to seize a lock of Rehmeier's hair by way of dispelling Rehmeier's "hexing" or bewitching influence—Wilbert Hess and Joyn Curry—have pleaded not guilty.

In the attempt to seize a lock of Rehmeier's hair, which was to be buried deep underground, Rehmeier was slain, and his body cremated. The state has said it will prove robbery as a motive.

Much depends upon whether the state, in its efforts to keep Witchcraft in the background will neglect to use the statements made by Clayton Hess and his father, Milton Hess.

"Blymyer told me that to get rid of our trouble we must tie his (Rehmeier's) hands and cut the hair on the back of his head and bury the hair in a hole about eight feet deep," Clayton's statement read.

Milton Hess' statement said: "Blymyer said that to get rid of our trouble we must cut the hair on the back of Rehmeier's head and bury these hairs in a hole eight feet deep."

Blymyer was a student of the "Long Lost Friend," a text book of magic popular among believers in witchcraft in this region. It contains formulae for almost everything, from protection against fire to assurance of large litters of pigs.

For instance, protection against fire is obtained by taking the finger of a maiden and burying it under the doorstep.

To cure rheumatism one is told to take one's underwear and leave it overnight pinched in a door. The next morning there will be relief.

Throughout the region near York where Rehmeier and the Hess family lived, those and similar formulae are believed by many people.

SENATORS WATSON AND HALE PAY THEIR RESPECTS TO HOOVER

Washington, Jan. 8.—(UP)—President-elect Hoover today was informed by Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, and Sen. Hale, republican, Maine, that the senate will pass its regular program with the adoption of the Kellogg pact and the navy cruiser bill without difficulty. Beyond this, Watson and Hale said their visit was confined to paying their respects to the president-elect and discussion of Mr. Hoover's South American tour.

Mr. Hoover inaugurated the system of breakfast conferences today by inviting Senator Borah, chairman of the foreign relations committee, to breakfast with him.

Following the breakfast Borah told the United Press they discussed "the general situation regarding legislation" but any details must come from Mr. Hoover.

Borah indicated he had informed Mr. Hoover an extra session is inevitable.

Composition of President-elect Hoover's cabinet was not discussed, according to Borah.

The post of secretary of state had not been offered him, Borah said, and declined to say whether he would accept the post in the event it was offered him by Mr. Hoover.

President-elect Hoover told the Iowa congressional delegation he will not interfere with the present legislative situation.

"We told the president-elect of the impossibility of getting farm relief through the present session of congress and the necessity of calling an extra session," Representative Haugen said following the conference.

"Mr. Hoover replied that Mr. Coolidge still is in the White House and that the present situation must be handled by President Coolidge and congress," Haugen added.

One of the Iowa congressmen recommended to Mr. Hoover the appointment of Dante Pierce, of Des Moines, as secretary of agriculture. J. R. Howard, formerly of the farm bureau, is another Iowa candidate for secretary of agriculture.

STORMS OFF CAPE HATTERAS CRIPPLE COAST GUARD VESSEL

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 8.—(UP)—Storms off Cape Hatteras had crippled the coast guard destroyer Beal today and sent two barges, under tow, into port. The destroyer yesterday reported her foremast and wireless plant damaged by heavy seas but informed coast guard headquarters here she would be able to make Charleston, S. C., unassisted.

GOVERNOR JOHNSTON FIGHTS LOSING BATTLE AGAINST IMPEACHMENT

Oklahoma City, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Governor Henry S. Johnston fought a losing fight against impeachment today as the twelfth session of the Oklahoma legislature convened.

The session opens with the house organization controlled by insurgent legislators, the senate apparently anti-Johnston and the political fate of the governor about to be delivered into the hands of his enemies.

Overnight developments found the 47 republicans of the house pledged by caucus to support the anti-administration house members in a demand for a committee-on-committees, shearing Allen Street, conservative speaker-elect, of his appointive power.

The strategy insures the taking up of the impeachment battle in the house during the first weeks of the session and threatens impeachment of the governor within 30 days.

5 DEAD FROM SUNDAY ERUPTION OF CALBUCO VOLCANO

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Five persons are known to be dead as a result of Sunday's eruption of Calbuco volcano.

The five bodies were found in the region along the Chapo river, which felt the worst of the eruption and accompanying earthquakes. Property damage was believed considerable.

A number of towns in the department of Llanquihue, where the volcano is situated, reported missing persons.

London, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The improvement of King George has progressed to the stage where his physicians are omitting morning bulletins.

In the absence of an official bulletin this morning, it was learned from authoritative sources that King George spent a good night and that his condition was unchanged.

Although the bulletins usually follow the same stereotyped form, omission of a bulletin a day was interpreted as a sign that the king's condition was considered generally satisfactory and no alarm was anticipated.

Last night's bulletin issued at 7:45 P. M., said:

"The king had a quiet day. There is no change to report in his condition. The next bulletin will be issued Tuesday evening."

Brooklyn, N. Y., Jan. 8.—(UP)—More than 200 students were led to safety today when fire attacked the two story wooden St. Malachy's parochial school.

The fire started as the students were in the 16 class rooms of the building. Sister Clare, superior of the school, started assembling the students and with the aid of six nuns and three lay teachers guided them out of the building.

There was little excitement.

Early reports to the police said that the two nuns, six lay teachers and the principal had taken all of the 213 children from the building safely.

CAMPAIGN FOR UPWARD REVISION OF TARIFF SCHEDULE

Washington, Jan. 8.—(UP)—A strenuous campaign to bring upward revision of the tariff on hundreds of thousands of manufactured articles into the "farm relief adjustment" of the customs walls was apparent today, as the second day of congressional tariff hearing started.

The campaign is one of attrition. Nearly every industry represented in the first day's 28 witnesses praised the present tariff and then called attention to a few commodities which the European producers are paying tariffs and still under-selling them.

Many loopholes in the 1922 Fordney-McCumber act were pointed out by the chemical men who had the first inning at the tariff counter.

Washington, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Preparations were completed today by the United States health service for a national influenza conference here Thursday when leading scientists hope to map out a more effective program for combating the disease.

More than 50 scientists and public health officials from all parts of the United States have accepted invitations to attend the conference, thought to be the first of its kind ever held.

Latest reports received by the health service indicate that approximately a million persons are ill of influenza which has taken 12,000 lives.

OIL IS TOPIC OF DISCUSSION AT CAPITAL

2 SENATE INVESTIGATING COM-MITTEES STARTING OUT ON
NEW TRAILS

DISTINGUISHED LIST OF GOVERN-MENT OFFICIALS CALLED BY COMMITTEE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 8.—Oil was the big topic of discussion today at the capital where two senate investigating committees are starting out on new trails.

A distinguished list of government officials was called by the senate Indian affairs committee which has stumbled on the curious Jackson Barnett Indian case in which a mentally incompetent Indian under care of the interior department managed to lose a substantial part of the millions he inherited from his oil lands.

In connection with this case the committee has summoned Hubert Work, who was secretary of interior when some of the facts in the case were developed; Attorney General Sargent, who wrote a letter that the interior department had acted illegally in the matter, and Charles Burke, Indian commissioner, who made fights for Barnett before the court voided, to testify tomorrow.

Charles B. Selby, assistant attorney general who has been working on the case in Oklahoma, yesterday told the committee he was ordered by his superiors at Washington last summer to stop a proposed grand jury investigation of the case.

He said he was prepared to ask indictments of criminal conspiracy against Burke, former Secretary of Interior Fall, and several subordinates when the order came. The committee immediately decided to summon Work, Sargent and Burke.

Secretary of Interior Roy O. West, whose confirmation is under fire, was to testify today in connection with contracts he made for New Mexican Indian lands during the short time he has been in the cabinet.

This investigation is being pushed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler who conducted the sensational Daugherty inquiry several years ago. His companion investigator at that time was Senator Thomas J. Walsh, also from Montana, who disclosed the Teapot Dome scandal.

Meantime the senate continued the anti-war treaty dispute and the house ways and means committee entered the second day of tariff hearings.

Opposing forces in the treaty fight still were trying to reach an agreement to permit a vote of ratification but the negotiations have twice broken down. The reservationist leader, Senator Moses of New Hampshire was to speak today.

Chemical industries were represented in the second day of the seven weeks of tariff hearings but there were no other important house committees in action.

DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES TO FLY TO MIAMI, FLA.

Lakehurst, N. J., Jan. 8.—(UP)—The navy dirigible Los Angeles was ready today for a training cruise to Miami, Fla. A cold wind sweeping across the landing field at the naval air station here was the only obstacle to prevent the take-off on the 24 hour flight.

NINETY DAYS' SESSION IS TO BE STORMY ONE

APPROXIMATELY 4,000 BILLS TO
BE POURED INTO LEGISLA-
TIVE HOPPER

$20,000,000 HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE
TO BE UP FOR CON-SIDERATION

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Jan. 8.—The forty-sixth Minnesota legislature was formally convened here at noon today with brief but fitting ceremonies.

The 90-day session which is expected to be one of the stormiest in the history of the state was launched by the usual routine affairs in the senate and house chambers before crowded galleries.

Approximately 4,000 bills are expected to be poured into the legislative hopper during the 1929 session out of which not more than 1,000 will be adopted.

Foremost among the bills expected to be offered for consideration will be: the $20,000,000 highway bond issue; reforestation; national bank tax; anti-evolution; whipping post bill; delinquent taxes and others.

The senate was called to order promptly at noon by Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan, who then stepped down from the speaker's dais, which was taken by Chief Justice Samuel B. Wilson, who administered the oath to the lieutenant-governor.

Three new senators, F. H. Rollins, St. Charles; Sumner T. McKnight, Minneapolis, and Henry Spindler, Buffalo, were then brought forward before Justice Wilson and were sworn in.

A detail of the Minnesota national guard then carried forward the national and state flags which were placed beside the speaker's stand.

Roll call followed with only three members absent, Senators Lemm, of Melrose; Peterson, Albert Lea, and Traxler, Le Sueur. Senator Lemm reported shortly after roll call. The other two men however were said unable to attend.

The first official business of the senate was the unanimous election of G. Howard Spaeth, Ada, as secretary.

Meanwhile, similar ceremonies occurred in the house.

Called to order by Mike Holm, secretary of state, the house members were sworn into office in a body by Judge Andrew Holt, associate justice of the supreme court.

Rep. John A. Johnson, Preston, was elected president for his third term. Roll call followed the appointment of Rep. Rufus P. Morton as temporary secretary. The following officers were then elected:

John I. Levin, St. Paul, chief clerk; C. L. Stevens, Warren, first assistant clerk; George R. Howe, of Duluth, second assistant; John D. Ross, Ortonville, sergeant-at-arms; the Rev. Frank Doran, St. Paul, chaplain, and S. Oscar Morse, Slayton, postmaster.

Rep. Johnson was elected speaker of the house by 116 votes. There was no opposition placed in nomination. Some members of the opposition responded to roll call vote on his election by saying, "not voting."

The nomination of Rep. Johnson was made by Rep. R. J. Quinlivan, St. Cloud, and seconded by Reps. Mahesh Hurd Paige, Minneapolis, and E. P. Scallon, Crosby.

Secretary Holm then named a committee of three, headed by John B. Hompe, Deer Creek, the only civil war veteran in the house, to escort the speaker to the rostrum. The other two were Reps. Oscar A. Swenson, Nicollet, and O. C. Neumann, Wheaton.

The caucus of senators in the senate chamber late Monday was the most harmonious in years.

Senator J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud, president pro tem of the 1927 senate, was chairman, and Senator Chris Rosenmeier, Little Falls, was chosen secretary.

Senator Rosenmeier read the list of senators and the elective officer or appointee endorsed by each, as previously submitted to the caucus committee, which consisted of himself, Senator Sullivan and Senator C. H. Mackenzie, Gaylord.

As predicted, G. Howard Spaeth, Ada, was endorsed for secretary of the senate to succeed George W. (Continued on Page 4)

OIL IS TOPIC OF DISCUSSION AT CAPITAL

2 SENATE INVESTIGATING COM-MITTEES STARTING OUT ON
NEW TRAILS

DISTINGUISHED LIST OF GOVERN-
COMMITTEE

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 8.—Oil was the big topic of discussion today at the capital where two senate investigating committees are starting out on new trails.

A distinguished list of government officials was called by the senate Indian affairs committee which has stumbled on the curious Jackson Barnett Indian case in which a mentally incompetent Indian under care of the interior department managed to lose a substantial part of the millions he inherited from his oil lands.

In connection with this case the committee has summoned Hubert Work, who was secretary of interior when some of the facts in the case were developed; Attorney General Sargent, who wrote a letter that the interior department had acted illegally in the matter, and Charles Burke, Indian commissioner, who made fights for Barnett before the court voided, to testify tomorrow.

Charles B. Selby, assistant attorney general who has been working on the case in Oklahoma, yesterday told the committee he was ordered by his superiors at Washington last summer to stop a proposed grand jury investigation of the case.

He said he was prepared to ask indictments of criminal conspiracy against Burke, former Secretary of Interior Fall, and several subordinates when the order came. The committee immediately decided to summon Work, Sargent and Burke.

Secretary of Interior Roy O. West, whose confirmation is under fire, was to testify today in connection with contracts he made for New Mexican Indian lands during the short time he has been in the cabinet.

This investigation is being pushed by Senator Burton K. Wheeler who conducted the sensational Daugherty inquiry several years ago. His companion investigator at that time was Senator Thomas J. Walsh, also from Montana, who disclosed the Teapot Dome scandal.

Meantime the senate continued the anti-war treaty dispute and the house ways and means committee entered the second day of tariff hearings.

Opposing forces in the treaty fight still were trying to reach an agreement to permit a vote of ratification but the negotiations have twice broken down. The reservationist leader, Senator Moses of New Hampshire was to speak today.

Chemical industries were represented in the second day of the seven weeks of tariff hearings but there were no other important house committees in action.

DIRIGIBLE LOS ANGELES TO FLY TO MIAMI, FLA.

Lakehurst, N. J., Jan. 8.—(U.P.)—The navy dirigible Los Angeles was ready today for a training cruise to Miami, Fla. A cold wind sweeping across the landing field at the naval air station here was the only obstacle to prevent the take-off on the 24 hour flight.

NINETY DAYS' SESSION IS TO BE STORMY ONE

APPROXIMATELY 4,000 BILLS TO
BE POURED INTO LEGISLA-
TIVE HOPPER

$20,000,000 HIGHWAY BOND ISSUE
TO BE UP FOR CON-
SIDERATION

By HECTOR PERRIER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, Jan. 8.—The forty-sixth Minnesota legislature was formally convened here at noon today with brief but fitting ceremonies.

The 90-day session which is expected to be one of the stormiest in the history of the state was launched by the usual routine affairs in the senate and house chambers before crowded galleries.

Approximately 4,000 bills are expected to be poured into the legislative hopper during the 1929 session out of which not more than 1,000 will be adopted.

Foremost among the bills expected to be offered for consideration will be: the $20,000,000 highway bond issue; reforestation; national bank tax; anti-evolution; whipping post bill; delinquent taxes and others.

The senate was called to order promptly at noon by Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan, who then stepped down from the speaker's dais, which was taken by Chief Justice Samuel B. Wilson, who administered the oath to the lieutenant-governor.

Three new senators, F. H. Rollins, St. Charles; Sumner T. McKnight, Minneapolis, and Henry Spindler, Buffalo, were then brought forward before Justice Wilson and were sworn in.

A detail of the Minnesota national guard then carried forward the national and state flags which were placed beside the speaker's stand.

Roll call followed with only three members absent, Senators Lemm, of Melrose; Peterson, Albert Lea, and Traxler, LeSueur. Senator Lemm reported shortly after roll call. The other two men however were said unable to attend.

The first official business of the senate was the unanimous election of G. Howard Spaeth, Ada, as secretary.

Meanwhile, similar ceremonies occurred in the house.

Called to order by Mike Holm, secretary of state, the house members were sworn into office in a body by Judge Andrew Holt, associate justice of the supreme court.

Rep. John A. Johnson, Preston, was elected president for his third term. Roll call followed the appointment of Rep. Rufus P. Morton as temporary secretary. The following officers were then elected:

John L. Levin, St. Paul, chief clerk; C. L. Stevens, Warren, first assistant clerk; George R. Howe, of Duluth, second assistant; John D. Ross, Ortonville, sergeant-at-arms; the Rev. Frank Doran, St. Paul, chaplain, and S. Oscar Morse, Slayton, postmaster.

Rep. Johnson was elected speaker by the house by 116 votes. There was no opposition placed in nomination. Some members of the opposition responded to roll call vote on his election by saying, "not voting."

The nomination of Rep. Johnson was made by Rep. R. J. Quinlivan, St. Cloud, and seconded by Reps. Mahesh Hurd Paige, Minneapolis, and E. P. Seallon, Crosby.

Secretary Holm then named a committee of three, headed by John B. Hompe, Deer Creek, the only civil war veteran in the house, to escort the speaker to the rostrum. The other two were Reps. Oscar A. Swenson, Nicollet, and O. C. Neumann, Wheaton.

The caucus of senators in the senate chamber late Monday was the most harmonious in years.

Senator J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud, president pro tem of the 1927 senate, was chairman, and Senator Chris Rosenmeier, Little Falls, was chosen secretary.

Senator Rosenmeier read the list of senators and the elective officer or appointee endorsed by each, as previously submitted to the caucus committee, which consisted of himself, Senator Sullivan and Senator C. H. Mackenzie, Gavlord.

As predicted, G. Howard Spaeth, Ada, was endorsed for secretary of the senate to succeed George W. (Continued on Page 4)

is now Epidemic!

Compared with 1918, this epidemic, so far, is mild; and yet, in spite of vastly increased capacity, the Vicks laboratories are once more operating night and day to meet the emergency demand for more and more Vicks VapoRub. Over 375,000 jars are now being produced daily.

How best to use Vicks VapoRub

1. AS A PREVENTIVE

Several times a day, insert Vicks up the nostrils. Also melt a little night and morning in a bowl of boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors. This helps to ward off germ-infection.

2. IF A COLD STARTS

If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade. Apply hot, wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-covering loose, so that the vapors, released by the body-warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks also acts through the skin like a poultice.

Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.

3. AFTER A FLU ATTACK

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds, attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus-trouble or pneumonia. This is especially true of children or old folks.

Need even the slightest cold as a danger signal. Vicks is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely, as often as needed, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

FLU is now Epidemic!

Compared with 1918, this epidemic, so far, is mild; and yet, in spite of vastly increased capacity, the Vicks laboratories are once more operating night and day to meet the emergency demand for more and more Vicks VapoRub. Over 375,000 jars are now being produced daily.

How best to use Vicks VapoRub

1. AS A PREVENTIVE

Several times a day, insert Vicks up the nostrils. Also melt a little night and morning in a bowl of boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors. This helps to ward off germ-infection.

2. IF A COLD STARTS

If possible, go home and go to bed. Take a laxative and a hot lemonade. Apply hot, wet towels over throat and chest until the skin is thoroughly reddened. Then rub vigorously with Vicks. Spread on thickly and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-covering loose, so that the vapors, released by the body-warmth, may be freely inhaled. At the same time, Vicks also acts through the skin like a poultice.

Repeat this treatment every four hours, eat lightly, and stay in bed until the cold is broken. Complete rest helps the body throw off the cold more quickly.

3. AFTER A FLU ATTACK

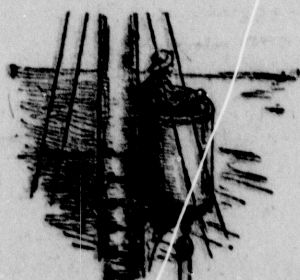

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is after influenza. Then, more than ever, colds, attacking the weakened system, may lead to bronchitis, sinus-trouble or pneumonia. This is especially true of children or old folks.

Heed even the slightest cold as a danger signal. Vicks is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally, and so can be used freely, as often as needed, without upsetting delicate digestions, as too much "dosing" is so apt to do.

RADIO ORDINANCE GETS 3RD READING

Passed by Council Last Evening. 14
Members of Radio Club Present

SNOWPLOW PURCHASED

Bids for Snow Removal Work Returnable This Friday

Ordinance No. 331, prohibiting the careless or negligent use of electrical equipment in the city in such manner as to cause interference with radio reception and penalty for violation thereof was given its third and final reading for passage by the city council last evening.

The motion for adoption was by Aldermen Martin Anderson and V. F. Anderson and supported by Aldermen W. J. Hall, V. E. Quamstrom, W. J. Lyons, Ernest Ritari, C. G. Holmstrom. It was opposed by Aldermen C. H. Elvig and R. H. Paine.

A committee of 14 members from the Brainerd Radio club waited upon the council and urged the adoption of the ordinance.

Dr. A. K. Cohen expressed the aim of the club in promoting better radio reception in the city, referring to other cities in Minnesota and other states that were following a national move to better radio conditions. He estimated that there were 700 radio sets in Brainerd and that 3,000 people were benefitting by them.

Asher Taylor stated that the cost of elimination of trouble in electrical appliances in homes would be slight and that in few cases would the cost be over 50 cents.

Charles Schwendeman stated that while he owned a radio set of his own he would like to feel that any cost involved to the household for correction of electrical appliances would not be unreasonable.

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton stated that the best way to test the ordinance would be to put it into effect and that the council if the members saw fit could repeal the ordinance as quickly as it was passed.

"I believe the council would be justified in passing the ordinance," said Mr. Fullerton, "the ordinance is not original in Brainerd. It was patterned after ordinances already in effect and working out satisfactory in other cities. The ordinance will not be such as to result in drastic action of enforcement."

Approve Plow Purchase

The council accepted the report of the purchasing committee which calls for the purchase of an Austin-Weston snow plow at the cost of $286.50 to be used for snow removal on the streets of Brainerd. The plow weighs 1570 pounds and may be attached to any truck.

In respect to the letting of the contract for the truck work in street snow removal the council turned down two bids tendered by G. C. Kuschel and Seymour Roberts, both of Brainerd and on motion instructed the city engineer to advertise for bids for operation of the snow plow to be opened at a special meeting of the council, Friday evening, January 11.

The bids submitted in contract form by Mr. Kuschel and Mr. Roberts were for $2.50 per hour for the first ten hours and $2.00 per hour for each following hour.

The contracts submitted brought forth an expression of disfavor from Alderman Martin Anderson who objected to them on the grounds that the contract price was higher than the price offered before contracts were suggested.

"The bad feature I have against it is that they came in and made a proposition of $2 an hour and when we call for bids they ask for $2.50 an hour. I do not believe in squandering the taxpayers money. Such a thing as that gets under my skin," said Mr. Anderson.

The original motion of Aldermen Paine and V. F. Anderson that Mr. Kuschel's bid for snow removal be accepted was lost by the count of six to three. Aldermen Paine, V. F. Anderson and W. J. Lyons voted in favor of the motion and Aldermen W. J. Hall, C. H. Elvig, V. E. Quamstrom, Ernest Ritari, Martin Anderson and C. G. Holmstrom opposed it.

The motion by Aldermen Hall and Ritari that the city engineer advertise for bids returnable Friday was carried, no opposing votes being expressed.

Relief Association Report

The financial statement of the Brainerd Fire Department Relief Association for the year ending December 31, 1928 as submitted to the council and accepted showed a balance of cash on hand of $3,284.01.

The report follows:

A license was granted the Lyceum theatre to operate the theatre for the year 1929. A check for $50 covering the license was tendered.

Delegates to Conference

President W. J. Lyons was authorized to appoint two delegates to attend a conference of the League of Minnesota Municipalities at St. Paul on January 24, one of the delegates to be City Attorney D. H. Fullerton.

The letter to the council from Morris B. Lambie, executive secretary of the League follows:

"Your municipality is invited to send delegates to the Legislative Conference of the League of Minnesota Municipalities which will be held in the St. Paul Hotel, St. Paul, January 24. This conference is called in accordance with the League policy to hold one meeting while the State Legislature is in session.

"The purposes of the conference are threefold:

"(1) To provide that measures already endorsed by the League shall be properly presented to the Legislature. The League this year is interested in the following legislation:
(a) Planning and zoning.
(b) Budgets for municipalities.
(c) Revision of village laws.
(d) Highway safety and traffic.

"(2) To examine and pass upon subjects that have heretofore been proposed for League action, but which have not received League endorsements.

"(3) To consider any other problems of legislation which may be presented to the Conference either by recommendation of League committees or by official resolution passed by the municipal council.

"These purposes are in keeping with the constitution of our association, which provides that the League is organized, among other reasons, to secure legislation beneficial to municipalities and to oppose legislation injurious thereto."

On motion of Aldermen Holmstrom and Martin Anderson the city engineer was authorized to proceed with the grading of Quince street between 8th and 10th streets, the dirt to be secured from the excavation of the new Brainerd high school at a cost of 15 cents a load.

The matter of payment of hospital expenses for J. Daws who is at present in the St. Gabriels hospital at Little Falls was referred to the city attorney.

A letter from Sister M. Loyola,
Superior at the hospital stated that
J. Daws fractured his hip while working for the Sisters at Belle Prairie. Claim is made that Daws is a former resident of Brainerd. He worked at Belle Prairie for one month before he was injured. His age is given as 80 years.

A claim for $45.30 was entered by letter from Harry J. O'Brien of the Brainerd Paper and Supply Co. for repairs to his car and loss of use of the same for one and one half days.
The letter stated that the damage was caused from driving over on a manhole on H street between Second and Third Avenues N. E. and that the bill had been submitted to the Water and Light Board, that board having disclaimed any responsibility.
The claim was referred to the city attorney and the street committee.

Sue Carol

Sue Carol, the girl in the story of "The Air Circus," the motion picture which is now playing at the Lyceum theatre tonight, entered pictures for a thrill. A wealthy Chicago society girl, she hadn't the urge to make money, as many of her sis-young Fox actor, and Joe Egli, casting director for Fox, met her at a farewell party in her honor on the

"I know an easy way to keep from getting fat Light a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

Nazimova
Famous Stage Star

THE modern way to diet! Light a Lucky when fattening sweets tempt you. That's what thousands of lovely women are doing—successfully. The delicately toasted flavor of Luckies makes them a delightful alternative for fattening sweets. Toasting does it. Toasting removes the impurities and improves the flavor of the finest tobacco. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Men who pride themselves on keeping fit discovered this long ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition—many prominent athletes have testified to this fact. They discovered, too, that Luckies don't irritate the throat—a fact subscribed to by 20,679 physicians.

"REACH FOR A LUCKY INSTEAD OF A SWEET."

RADIO ORDINANCE GETS 3RD READING

Passed by Council Last Evening. 14 Members of Radio Club Present

SNOWPLOW PURCHASED

Bids for Snow Removal Work Returnable This Friday

Ordinance No. 331, prohibiting the careless or negligent use of electrical equipment in the city in such manner as to cause interference with radio reception and penalty for violation thereof was given its third and final reading for passage by the city council last evening.

The motion for adoption was by Aldermen Martin Anderson and V. F. Anderson and supported by Aldermen W. J. Hall, V. E. Quansstrom, W. J. Lyons, Ernest Ritari, C. G. Holmstrom. It was opposed by Aldermen C. H. Elvig and R. H. Paine.

A committee of 14 members from the Brainerd Radio club waited upon the council and urged the adoption of the ordinance.

Dr. A. K. Cohen expressed the aim of the club in promoting better radio reception in the city, referring to other cities in Minnesota and other states that were following a national move to better radio conditions. He estimated that there were 700 radio sets in Brainerd and that 3,000 people were benefitting by them.

Asher Taylor stated that the cost of elimination of trouble in electrical appliances in homes would be slight and that in few cases would the cost be over 50 cents.

Charles Schwendeman stated that while he owned a radio set of his own he would like to feel that any cost involved to the householder for correction of electrical appliances would not be unreasonable.

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton stated that the best way to put the ordinance would be to put it into effect and that the council if the members saw fit could repeal the ordinance as quickly as it was passed.

"I believe the council would be justified in passing the ordinance," said Mr. Fullerton, "the ordinance is not original in Brainerd. It was patterned after ordinances already in effect and working out satisfactory in other cities. The ordinance will not be such as to result in drastic action of enforcement."

Approve Plow Purchase

The council accepted the report of the purchasing committee which calls for the purchase of an Austin-Weston snow plow at the cost of $286.50 to be used for snow removal on the streets of Brainerd. The plow weighs 1570 pounds and may be attached to any truck.

In respect to the letting of the contract for the truck work in street snow removal the council turned down two bids tendered by G. C. Kuschel and Seymour Roberts, both of Brainerd and on motion instructed the city engineer to advertise for bids for operation of the snow plow to be opened at a special meeting of the council, Friday evening, January 11.

The bids submitted in contract form by Mr. Kuschel and Mr. Roberts were for $2.50 per hour for the first ten hours and $2.00 per hour for each following hour.

The contracts submitted brought forth an expression of disfavor from Alderman Martin Anderson who objected to them on the grounds that the contract price was higher than the price offered before contracts were suggested.

"The bad feature I have against it is that they came in and made a proposition of $2 an hour and when we call for bids they ask for $2.50 an hour. I do not believe in squandering the taxpayers money. Such a thing as that gets under my skin," said Mr. Anderson.

The original motion of Aldermen Paine and V. F. Anderson that Mr. Kuschel's bid for snow removal be accepted was lost by the count of six to three. Aldermen Paine, V. F. Anderson and W. J. Lyons voted in favor of the motion and Aldermen W. J. Hall, C. H. Elvig, V. E. Quansstrom, Ernest Ritari, Martin Anderson and C. G. Holmstrom opposed it.

The motion by Aldermen Hall and Ritari that the city engineer advertise for bids returnable Friday was carried, no opposing votes being expressed.

December Health Report

Measles reached its peak in Brainerd in December when 159 cases were reported. Miss Eula F. Michael, city and school nurse announced in her report for the month ending December 31, 1928. The number of other communicable diseases reported during the month were: influenza, 56; chicken pox, 16; whooping cough, 1.

Relief Association Report

The financial statement of the Brainerd Fire Department Relief Association for the year ending December 31, 1928 as submitted to the council and accepted showed a balance of cash on hand of $8,284.01.

The report follows:
Balance, cash on hand January 1, 1928 $7,108.55

Receipts
Received from state 1,175.16
Received from interest 192.35

Total receipts $1,367.61

Total	$8,476.16
Expenditures
Death benefits and disability benefits	$ 192.15
Balance, cash on hand December 31, 1928	$8,284.01

P. J. Conklin made application for a license to operate one pump at the filling station at the corner of First avenue and "A" street N. E., tendering his check for $25. The application was granted and the license ordered issued.

A license was granted the Lyceum theatre to operate the theatre for the year 1929. A check for $50 covering the license was tendered.

Delegates to Conference

President W. J. Lyons was authorized to appoint two delegates to attend a conference of the League of Minnesota Municipalities at St. Paul on January 24, one of the delegates to be City Attorney D. H. Fullerton.

The letter to the council from Morris B. Lambie, executive secretary of the League follows:

"Your municipality is invited to send delegates to the Legislative Conference of the League of Minnesota Municipalities which will be held in the St. Paul Hotel, St. Paul, January 24. This conference is called in accordance with the League policy to hold one meeting while the State Legislature is in session.

"The purposes of the conference are threefold:

"(1) To provide that measures already endorsed by the League shall be properly presented to the Legislature. The League this year is interested in the following legislation:
(a) Planning and zoning.
(b) Budgets for municipalities.
(c) Revision of village laws.
(d) Highway safety and traffic.

"(2) To examine and pass upon subjects that have heretofore been proposed for League action, but which have not received League endorsements.

"(3) To consider any other problems of legislation which may be presented to the Conference either by recommendation of League committees or by official resolution passed by the municipal council.

"These purposes are in keeping with the constitution of our association, which provides that the League is organized, among other reasons, 'to secure legislation beneficial to municipalities and to oppose legislation injurious thereto.'

On motion of Aldermen Holmstrom and Martin Anderson the city engineer was authorized to proceed with the grading of Quince street between 8th and 10th streets, the dirt to be secured from the excavation of the new Brainerd high school at a cost of 15 cents a load.

The matter of payment of hospital expenses for J. Daws who is at present in the St. Gabriels hospital at Little Falls was referred to the city attorney.

A letter from Sister M. Loyola, Superior at the hospital stated that J. Daws fractured his hip while working for the Sisters at Belle Prairie. Claim is made that Daws is a former resident of Brainerd. He worked at Belle Prairie for one month before he was injured. His age is given as 80 years.

A claim for $45.30 was entered by letter from Harry J. O'Brien of the Brainerd Paper and Supply Co. for repairs to his car and loss of use of the same for one and one half days. The letter stated that the damage was caused from driving over on a manhole on H street between Second and Third Avenues N. E. and that the bill had been submitted to the Water and Light Board, that board having disclaimed any responsibility. The claim was referred to the city attorney and the street committee.

Sue Carol

Sue Carol, the girl in the story of "The Air Circus," the motion picture which is now playing at the Lyceum theatre tonight, entered pictures for a thrill. A wealthy Chicago society girl, she hadn't the urge to make money, as many of her sisters of the movies. Nick Stuart, young Fox actor, and Joe Egli, casting director for Fox, met her at a farewell party in her honor on the eve of her departure after a visit to Hollywood. They prevailed on her to stay longer and take a test for pictures. That was a year ago. Now she is one of the most successful of the younger players.

"I know an easy way to keep from getting fat Light a Lucky instead of eating sweets."

Nazimova
Famous Stage Star

THE modern way to diet! Light a Lucky when fattening sweets tempt you. That's what thousands of lovely women are doing—successfully. The delicately toasted flavor of Luckies makes them a delightful alternative for fattening sweets. Toasting does it. Toasting removes the impurities and improves the flavor of the finest tobacco. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Men who pride themselves on keeping fit discovered this long ago. They know that Luckies steady their nerves and do not impair their physical condition—many prominent athletes have testified to this fact. They discovered, too, that Luckies don't irritate the throat—a fact subscribed to by 20,679 physicians.

A reasonable proportion of sugar in the diet is recommended, but the authorities are overwhelming that too many fattening sweets are harmful and that too many such are eaten by the American people. So, for moderation's sake we say:—

REMODELING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A PLAN to remodel the Chamber of Commerce in many ways does not appeal to the older members. The new idea is to entrust the work in general to a board of directors and let them hire a paid manager to carry on the community work. The present fine quarters are to be closed and the manager placed in a small office. This may seem a saving in the way of finances, but what has the new plan to offer the many individual members? They will have little opportunity to be heard.

The Chamber has had paid managers in the past, four of them. The greatest progress with concrete results was attained under the present plan in which the Chamber centers its activities and devotes most of its effort to putting something into effect. One year it was the Better Sires proposition. Another year it was the Tourist Camp. Another occasion it was the map for tourists. The Chamber does a great community work when it permits its quarters to be occupied gratis by conventions and local gatherings. Recent occupants were the Lions with the kiddies Christmas party; on January 10 the Brainerd Business Men's Association; January 11 the Brainerd Country club, etc.

A Chamber of Commerce headquarters such as we have at present means more to a stranger and resident than a small office.

Service to a community is expressed in cash memberships, in additional subscription work and in active service. Even the paid manager of the St. Paul Association cannot hope to express himself and act for a whole community like St. Paul. He says the best success is gained by the wholehearted support of all interests.

The efforts of the Chamber have been concentrated on making the institution a democratic one, a forum for community affairs. It has been a movement to avoid centering control in the hands of a few, but to let its policies and actions be guided by the members.

So far as finances are concerned, according to F. H. Gruenhagen, chairman of the finance committee, the Chamber is in the best shape it has been in years.

PLEA FOR GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP AND GOOD CONDUCT

EACH week from now until the first of March, the local high school basketball team will play a game in an out of town city. This means that two games will be played at Little Falls, two in Crosby-Ironton, two in Staples and two in Aitkin.

It is very probable that more fans will follow the team this year than heretofore because of the absence of home games. It would be well at this time for every one to keep in mind that the reputation not only of the local high school but of our city is dependent upon the attitude of our people, both children and adults, at these games.

The state rules even provide that the local team will be held responsible for the attitude of the home crowd.

It is to be hoped that no form of rowdism at these games which will reflect discredit upon Brainerd or our high school will occur. It is impossible for the local school authorities to look after the scores of students who may visit the neighboring towns to see these games except in a most general way, as the coach is fully occupied in looking after the players and many times no other teachers are present.

The school authorities, however, and the city authorities will cooperate to prevent rowdism as far as they are able if the facts come to their knowledge.

It is to be hoped that no cases of intoxication from either young people or adults will be reported to authorities after any of these games.

It is to be hoped and expected that after this year the tournaments will be held in the new gym at Brainerd. But this matter is left entirely to the votes of the towns in the district and the towns in the district will be governed to a considerable extent by the sportsmanlike attitude of the Brainerd spectators as well as the players at these public games.

TO HONOR HEAD OF EAGLES

E. J. RYAN, Kansas City, Mo., Grand Worthy President of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will visit the St. Cloud aerie on the evening of January 9.

Delegations from lodges all over the entire northwest are expected to be present for the occasion. Brainerd lodge is expected to attend in a body.

The Eagles who are urging state legislation for old age pension expect a report by the grand worthy president on the success of the order in having social legislation passed in the legislatures of the several states in the union.

WHIST TOURNAMENT

THE thirty-first annual session of the Northwest Whist Tournament to be held at Minneapolis January 23, is expected to attract 100 whist experts to Minneapolis from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois.

The experts will match their skill for two prizes, the Martin trophy and the St. Paul trophy. The former will go to the champion team of four and the latter to the pair with highest scores playing under the Howell system.

PEOPLE on holiday visits often have the Brainerd Dispatch sent to their address and it keeps them informed on home happenings. A case in point is that of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frampton of Island View Lodge on Gull Lake. They spent six weeks in Indiana and Ohio enjoying a splendid vacation and were blessed with fine weather throughout, the coldest having been 5 degrees above zero. On Christmas Day the boys were flying kites in their shirt sleeves. "We certainly enjoyed reading the Dispatch while down here," writes Mr. Frampton.

POSSIBLY and probably but hardly ever done, says the Little Falls Transcript and comments that "the Brainerd Daily Dispatch is publicly thanked for the free publicity it has given an organization in that city."

SNOW is needed to bring more business to the territory north of Brainerd. Logging languishes with little snow.

SOME people are independently wealthy and others are independently poor.

CITY building in St. Cloud last year totalled $1,438,920, commendable figures.

CHAPTER LVIII.

HAD she been struck an actual physical blow, Ann could have received no more of a reeling sensation. Her mind understood what Jerry had said but the import simply refused to sink into her consciousness. "Don't look so startled, please," he said in his unruffled way. "It has happened before and will happen many times again—men go off with girls. You see, Maizie is broadminded and I don't feel that I'm degrading her or doing her any harm at all. I think it's going to be a very stimulating association."

Ann's eyes lost their brightness. "Jerry—would you do a thing like that—with Maizie?"

"Good heavens—are you turning Puritan?" he demanded. "Of course, I would. Why not? When two adults know what they are doing, what's the harm?" "It's so cheap."

"Nonsense. It's nature. Oh, I understand that I'm violating all of the superficial standards of our civilization but I was always more or less of a rebel. At that, my intentions aren't entirely vile. I want Maizie with me because she interests me and because I suffer terribly from loneliness. I need a companion. Someone to look after me—and I need, too, the responsibility of looking after somebody."

"But you're so cold-blooded about it," Ann gasped.

Jerry smiled. "I think Maizie might be in a better position to pass on that phase than you are."

Suddenly Ann's world had gone topsy-turvy. She had thought Jerry as steady as a rock. Now he was talking like a—like a libertine. Even to think of that word in her own mind made her feel prim and old-fashioned. A libertine... it sounded perfectly awful... but Jerry was not a perfectly awful creature. Sitting there across the room from her he looked clean and fine and straight; there was more than a touch of masculine good looks in his lean face; around and about him seemed to hover an aura of talent and industry and stamina.

"You're throwing yourself away," she declared in a strained voice. "Somebody ought to stop you. You ought to be looked up or something until you recover from this madness." Again he laughed. "My dear child, haven't you yet learned the futility of trying to interfere with another person? I tried to make you over and guide you according to my ideas, and you promptly began to act like a little nut-flapper with Steve. No, Ann, dear, each of us must steer his own course through uncharted waters. Free will is the only guiding star."

But it all sounded so horrible—entering into an alliance of that kind with Maizie. "You couldn't possibly love her?" "Oh I don't know—love doesn't necessarily have to come all at once. Perhaps it'll grow. Nothing like giving love a chance, is there?"

"I don't know," Ann retorted. "I've never tried your method." A vast feeling of futility swept over her. "You men! Are you all alike—aren't any of you capable of just friendship—without this constant battering at a girl?" "I can't speak for Steve and the others," Jerry told her calmly, "but it amuses me to hear you talk that way. I for one am capable of friendship with a girl, but girls aren't satisfied with that. You weren't and you aren't. It's you who batter at men. You have a thousand instinctive devices for generating desire. If a man likes you you see to it that he becomes enamored. Nobody is safe. The big kick is to play with fire, but you want to stay safe while you're playing. If your playmate gets burned—well that's just too bad so far as you're concerned. I'm not criticizing you personally. Most girls are that way. It seems to be their nature."

"I've never acted that way toward you," Ann told him, desperately defensive.

"Oh, haven't you? I think you have but I may be wrong in my own case. If I am—how about Steve? You got him, poor ox, running around in circles. It's no good saying you couldn't help it. You could have stopped him before he started, if you wanted to but you had to have your fun. Do you know what I think ought to be done with girls like you, Ann?"

She felt that she was being beaten; that his mind was a knout and that he was lashing her on her bare back with leather, lead-tipped thongs.

"Men ought to treat girls like you as the primitive suitors did in the old days. Your lover, surrounded by his friends, should swoop down upon your father's tent and actually carry you off by force. I mean that for your own good. The decision should be taken out of your hands and the deadlock in your mind broken. Some women give love freely and gladly and there is another type that can be won. But you, Ann, you must be mastered."

"There aren't any lovers on horseback these days," she reminded him. "Thank Heaven!"

"No, we've passed beyond that ideal stage and there is no modern equivalent of force. I'm sorry our little experiment in living has been a failure. This is the parting—I'm off to New York and a new kind of struggle."

"I don't know what is going to become of me," Ann said with slow despair.

"Oh, I'm not worried about you. Pretty soon you'll get tired and go back home and marry Hector Richards or somebody like him. It won't be very exciting and you'll never have the thrill of being mastered. All of your days you'll drink the flat waters of surrender. Came a knock at the door and Ann was bewildered to find Maizie Thompson coming into the room. But it was a new Maizie, a different, transfigured girl.

MAN AND HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW IN LEGISLATURE

Boston, Jan. 8.—(U.P.)—A man and his mother-in-law are members of the Massachusetts legislature.

This fact was revealed to an amazed house of representatives yesterday when Mrs. John Kendall, Joy, Jr., visited her husband, a member of the house, and at the same time greeted her mother, Mrs. Emma E. Brigham, who is serving her first term as state representative.

Joy represents ward 3 of Springfield and his mother-in-law represents ward 4.

WAS FLAT ON HIS BACK FOR WEEKS

Dieringer Only Weighted 107 Pounds and Was Almost Helpless. Sargon Puts Him on Job Again. Has Gained Twenty Pounds

"I was down in bed flat on my back for weeks. I was on a liquid diet and I fell off until I only weighed 107 pounds. Sargon not only put me on my feet a well man, but I actually gained twenty pounds and am back at work feeling finer than I have in years. There is bound to be something unusual about a medicine that will do all that for a man in the shape I was in."

This is the statement made recently by John Dieringer, well known inspector for the LeRoi Gas Engine Company, Milwaukee, in one of the most remarkable endorsements ever given to a proprietary medicine. Mr. Dieringer lives at 873 Sixty-second Ave., West Allis, Milwaukee.

"I was told I had auto-intoxication and my condition became so bad I was ordered to the hospital immediately, but I would not consent to it. I had to take laxatives all the time, and if I ate anything solid it would cause a terrible burning like fire in my stomach and chest and I would almost double up with cramps. My nerves went to pieces and I was so weak and dizzy that I would sometimes have to grab hold of my chair to keep from falling when I got up."

"It looked like the more medicines I took the worse I got and I was so weak I broke down completely. I had to give up my job and go to bed. My whole system seemed to be clogged full of poisons."

"I have taken six bottles of Sargon and to say that I am like a new man does not fully express all that Sargon did for me. I gained twenty pounds and am back at work feeling better than I have in years. I eat anything now, sleep like a healthy boy, and am in tip-top condition all over. I took some of the Sargon Soft Mass Pills, too, and they are the finest thing for constipation I ever saw. They don't gripe in the least, yet do their work properly."

"Nobody could ask a medicine to do more than Sargon did for me. It was the most remarkable experience in my life."

REMODELING CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A PLAN to remodel the Chamber of Commerce in many ways does not appeal to the older members. The new idea is to entrust the work in general to a board of directors and let them hire a paid manager to carry on the community work. The present fine quarters are to be closed and the manager placed in a small office. This may seem a saving in the way of finances, but what has the new plan to offer the many individual members? They will have little opportunity to be heard.

The Chamber has had paid managers in the past, four of them. The greatest progress with concrete results was attained under the present plan in which the Chamber centers its activities and devotes most of its effort to putting something into effect. One year it was the Better Sires proposition. Another year it was the Tourist Camp. Another occasion it was the map for tourists.

The Chamber does a great community work when it permits its quarters to be occupied gratis by conventions and local gatherings. Recent occupants were the Lions with the kiddies Christmas party; on January 10 the Brainerd Business Men's Association; January 11 the Brainerd Country club, etc.

A Chamber of Commerce headquarters such as we have at present means more to a stranger and resident than a small office.

Service to a community is expressed in cash memberships, in additional subscription work and in active service. Even the paid manager of the St. Paul Association cannot hope to express himself and act for a whole community like St. Paul. He says the best success is gained by the wholehearted support of all interests.

The efforts of the Chamber have been concentrated on making the institution a democratic one, a forum for community affairs. It has been a movement to avoid centering control in the hands of a few, but to let its policies and actions be guided by the members.

So far as finances are concerned, according to F. H. Gruenhagen, chairman of the finance committee, the Chamber is in the best shape it has been in years.

PLEA FOR GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP AND GOOD CONDUCT

EACH week from now until the first of March, the local high school basketball team will play a game in an out of town city. This means that two games will be played at Little Falls, two in Crosby-Ironton, two in Staples and two in Aitkin.

It is very probable that more fans will follow the team this year than heretofore because of the absence of home games. It would be well at this time for every one to keep in mind that the reputation not only of the local high school but of our city is dependent upon the attitude of our people, both children and adults, at these games.

The state rules even provide that the local team will be held responsible for the attitude of the home crowd.

It is to be hoped that no form of rowdiness at these games which will reflect discredit upon Brainerd or our high school will occur. It is impossible for the local school authorities to look after the scores of students who may visit the neighboring towns to see these games except in a most general way, as the coach is fully occupied in looking after the players and many times no other teachers are present.

The school authorities, however, and the city authorities will cooperate to prevent rowdiness as far as they are able if the facts come to their knowledge.

It is to be hoped that no cases of intoxication from either young people or adults will be reported to authorities after any of these games.

It is to be hoped and expected that after this year the tournaments will be held in the new gym at Brainerd. But this matter is left entirely to the votes of the towns in the district and the towns in the district will be governed to a considerable extent by the sportsmanlike attitude of the Brainerd spectators as well as the players at these public games.

TO HONOR HEAD OF EAGLES

E. J. RYAN, Kansas City, Mo., Grand Worthy President of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will visit the St. Cloud aerie on the evening of January 9.

Delegations from lodges all over the entire northwest are expected to be present for the occasion. Brainerd lodge is expected to attend in a body.

The Eagles who are urging state legislation for old age pension expect a report by the grand worthy president on the success of the order in having social legislation passed in the legislatures of the several states in the union.

WHIST TOURNAMENT

THE thirty-first annual session of the Northwest Whist Tournament to be held at Minneapolis January 23, is expected to attract 100 whist experts to Minneapolis from Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, Missouri and Illinois.

The experts will match their skill for two prizes, the Martin trophy and the St. Paul trophy. The former will go to the champion team of four and the latter to the pair with highest scores playing under the Howell system.

PEOPLE on holiday visits often have the Brainerd Dispatch sent to their address and it keeps them informed on home happenings. A case in point is that of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Frampton of Island View Lodge on Gull Lake. They spent six weeks in Indiana and Ohio enjoying a splendid vacation and were blessed with fine weather throughout, the coldest having been 5 degrees above zero. On Christmas Day the boys were flying kites in their shirt sleeves. "We certainly enjoyed reading the Dispatch while down here," writes Mr. Frampton.

POSSIBLY and probably but hardly ever done, says the Little Falls Transcript and comments that "the Brainerd Daily Dispatch is publicly thanked for the free publicity it has given an organization in that city."

SNOW is needed to bring more business to the territory north of Brainerd. Logging languishes with little snow.

SOME people are independently wealthy and others are independently poor.

CITY building in St. Cloud last year totalled $1,438,920, commendable figures.

Peaks of Desire

CHAPTER LVIII.

HAD she been struck an actual physical blow, Ann could have received no more of a reeling sensation. Her mind understood what Jerry had said but the import simply refused to sink into her consciousness. "Don't look so startled, please," he said in his unruffled way. "It has happened before and will happen many times again—men go off with girls. You see, Maizie is broadminded and I don't feel that I'm degrading her or doing her any harm at all. I think it's going to be a very stimulating association."

Ann's eyes lost their brightness. "Jerry—would you do a thing like that—with Maizie?"

"Good heavens—are you turning Puritan?" he demanded. "Of course, I would. Why not? When two adults know what they are doing, what's the harm?"

"It's so cheap."

"Nonsense. It's nature. Oh, I understand that I'm violating all of the superficial standards of our civilization but I was always more or less of a rebel. At that, my intentions aren't entirely vile. I want Maizie with me because she interests me and because I suffer terribly from loneliness. I need a companion. Someone to look after me—and I need, too, the responsibility of looking after somebody."

"But you're so cold-blooded about it," Ann gasped.

Jerry smiled. "I think Maizie might be in a better position to pass on that than you are."

Suddenly Ann's world had gone topsy-turvy. She had thought Jerry as steady as a rock. Now he was talking like a—like a libertine. Even to think of that word in her own mind made her feel prim and old-fashioned. A libertine... it sounded perfectly awful... but Jerry was not a perfectly awful creature. Sitting there across the room from her he looked clean and fine and straight; there was more than a touch of masculine good looks in his lean face; around and about him seemed to hover an aura of talent and industry and stamina.

"You're throwing yourself away," she declared in a strained voice. "Somebody ought to stop you. You ought to be looked up or something until you recover from this madness."

Again he laughed. "My dear child, haven't you yet learned the futility of trying to interfere with another person? I tried to make you over and guide you according to my ideas, and you promptly began to act like a little nut-flapper with Steve. No, Ann, each of us must steer his own course through uncharted waters. Free will is the only guiding star."

But it all sounded so horrible—entering into an alliance of that kind with Maizie. "You couldn't possibly love her."

"Oh I don't know—love doesn't necessarily have to come all at once. Perhaps it'll grow. Nothing like giving love a chance, is there?"

"I don't know," Ann retorted. "I've never tried your method."

A vast feeling of futility swept over her. "You men! Are you all alike—aren't you of you capable of just friendship—without this constant battering at a girl?"

"I can't speak for Steve and the others," Jerry told her calmly, "but it amuses me to hear you talk that way. I for one am capable of friendship with a girl, but girls aren't satisfied with that. You weren't and you aren't. It's you who batter at men. You have a thousand instinctive devices for generating desire. If a man likes you you see to it that he becomes enamored. Nobody is safe. The big kick is to play with fire, but you want to stay safe while you're playing. If your playmate gets burned—well that's just too bad so far as you're concerned. I'm not criticizing you personally. Most girls are that way. It seems to be their nature."

"I've never acted that way toward you," Ann told him, desperately defensive.

"Oh, haven't you? I think you have but I may be wrong in my own case. If I am—how about Steve? You got him, poor ox, running around in circles. It's no good saying you couldn't help it. You could have stopped him before he started, if you wanted to but you had to have your fun. Do you know what I think ought to be done with girls like you, Ann?"

She felt that she was being beaten; that his mind was a knout and that he was lashing her on her bare back with leather, lead-tipped whips.

"Men ought to treat girls like you as the primitive suitors did in the old days. Your lover, surrounded by his friends, should swoop down upon your father's tent and actually carry you off by force. I mean that for your own good. The decision should be taken out of your hands and the deadlock in your mind broken. Some men give love freely and gladly and there is another type that can be won. But you, Ann, you must be mastered."

"There aren't any lovers on horseback these days," she reminded him. "Thank Heaven!"

"No, we've passed beyond that ideal stage and there is no modern equivalent of force. I'm sorry our little experiment in living has been a failure. This is the parting—

I'm off to New York and a new kind of struggle."

"I don't know what is going to become of me," Ann said with slow despair.

"Oh, I'm not worried about you. Pretty soon you'll get tired and go back home and marry Hector Richards or somebody like him. It won't be very exciting and you'll never have the thrill of being mastered. All of your days you'll drink the flat waters of surrender."

Came a knock at the door and Ann was bewildered to find Maizie Thompson coming into the room. But it was a new Maizie, a different, transfigured girl.

MAN AND HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW IN LEGISLATURE

Boston, Jan. 8.—(U.P.)—A man and his mother-in-law are members of the Massachusetts legislature.

This fact was revealed to an amazed house of representatives yesterday when Mrs. John Kendall, Joy, Jr., visited her husband, a member of the house, and at the same time greeted her mother, Mrs. Emma E. Brigham, who is serving her first term as state representative.

Joy represents ward 3 of Springfield and his mother-in-law represents ward 4.

Dieringer Only Weighed 107 Pounds and Was Almost Helpless. Sargon Puts Him on Job Again. Has Gained Twenty Pounds

"I was down in bed flat on my back for weeks. I was on a liquid diet and I fell off until I only weighed 107 pounds. Sargon not only put me on my feet a well man, but I actually gained twenty pounds and am back at work feeling finer than I have in years. There is bound to be something unusual about a medicine that will do all that for a man in the shape I was in."

This is the statement made recently by John Dieringer, well known inspector for the LeRoi Gas Engine Company, Milwaukee, in one of the most remarkable endorsements ever given to a proprietary medicine. Mr. Dieringer lives at 873 Sixty-second Ave., West Allis, Milwaukee.

"I was told I had auto-intoxication and my condition became so bad I was ordered to the hospital immediately, but I would not consent to it. McGARRY ON STAND IN COURTNEY CASE

Reveals Alleged First Connections of Courtney to Ironton Bank Robbery

Attorney Kinkead Takes up McGarry's Liqueur Dealings on Range

Mrs. Margaret Halvorson, Brainerd.
I. Bjornas, Ironton.

Testimony by P. W. McGarry on the stand under cross examination by Assistant Attorney General Walter F. Wieland revealed that first connections of Courtney relative to the Ironton bank robbery came in Brainerd the latter part of July 1927 when McGarry replied to Courtney for the request of a $5 loan that he should get in touch with Almon H. Proctor cashier then of the bank since Proctor wanted someone to rob his bank.

The meeting between Courtney and McGarry took place in the Ideal hotel where the two had gone after McGarry had requested a drink.

"I had just got out of the hospital that day and was on my way back to Ironton. I saw Courtney on Sixth street, told him that I had just left the hospital and that I wanted a drink badly. He took me to the Ideal hotel where I got a drink. He did not drink with me. After having a couple of drinks he asked me for a loan of $5. I told him that I did not have the money but that he should see Proctor as he wanted someone to rob the bank. Courtney did not say anything more about it at the time. About ten days later Courtney came to Ironton. We met on the street in the company of two other men I am not sure who they were, it might have been a man named Smith and another. Booze was discussed at that time and Courtney asked about if we could handle a shipment. I told him I was not handling liquor then. As we talked we saw Proctor coming up the street from the bank. We started to walk towards Proctor and on the way Courtney said to me 'my name is Stewart.' I introduced Courtney to Proctor as Stewart and the two of them left.

"I did not see Courtney then until after the robbery. That was about one week after. He came into the poolroom where I was working but I told him I was too busy to talk to him. He came to my house the next night and told me he wanted to be connected with Proctor. I told him that if he wanted to see Proctor he would have to see him himself."

Under cross examination McGarry admitted that Courtney had told him that he had been left out by the bandits who had told him that he would have to get his share from Proctor.

"Courtney asked me if I would get a package from Proctor and deliver it to Jack Flynn's place at Seventh and Wabash, St. Paul. I told him I would not that I did not want to have anything to do with the deal. Courtney told me he had got nothing from the deal. He said he was in St. Paul at the time of the robbery and that the bandits had got $13,500 but they had refused to give him anything. Courtney told me he wanted $2,500 and asked me to get it from Proctor and take it to Jack Flynn's place. I refused," said McGarry.

McGarry stated he had known Courtney for 25 years. He had met him first in St. Paul while he (McGarry) was working in a poolroom.

P. W. McGarry who was acquitted by a Crow Wing county jury of the charge of complicity in connection with the robbery of the First National bank of Ironton received a severe grilling by Attorney M. F. Kinkead when cross examined by the defense attorney in the trial of the State vs. John J. Courtney which went into the second day today.

McGarry's liquor dealings on the range, his connection with card games, his reputation as a heavy drinker and his part in the arrest of Proctor were brought out upon questioning of Attorney Kinkead.

whereby McGarry, Proctor, and two others were cheated by buying water in place of alcohol was also told by McGarry.

Attorney Kinkead accused McGarry of being in league with Proctor in planning the holdup. McGarry denied it.

"Isn't it a fact, McGarry, that Proctor and you arranged the entire bank deal?" questioned Kinkead.

"No," McGarry replied emphatically.

"Isn't it a fact that you got Proctor into his first liquor deal," Kinkead asked.

"No," replied McGarry.

McGarry testified that on the request of Charles D. Brown, of the protective department of the Minnesota Bankers Association and Sheriff Claus Theorin he had approached Proctor for money for Courtney which later was turned over to the authorities.

"I got the money from Proctor in the wash room back of a barber shop. I told Proctor that Courtney needed money to make a getaway. He took out $480 from his pocket and gave it to me," said McGarry.

"Did you at the request of anyone take that money to Jack Flynn's place in St. Paul," questioned Kinkead.

"I gave the money to the authorities," replied McGarry.

Liquor dealings between McGarry and Proctor were reviewed on cross examination by Attorney Kinkead.

"Isn't it true that through liquor dealings you had with Courtney that you still owe Courtney $750 Kinkead asked.

"No," replied McGarry.

"Is it true, McGarry, that you were in the hospital on several occasions with the snakes," asked Kinkead.

"Twice," replied McGarry.

Kinkead—"And that immediately after coming out of the hospital that day in July that you met Courtney in Brainerd that you proceeded to get drunk."

McGarry—"I had two drinks."

Kinkead—"Were you drunk when you introduced Courtney to Proctor?"

McGarry—"No."

Kinkead—"Were you drunk when Courtney came to your house that night and asked you to see Proctor to get money for him?"

McGarry—"No."

Kinkead—"What did Courtney say to you?"

McGarry—"He said he had been gyped on the deal and that if he was to get any money it was to be from Proctor. Courtney wanted me to use my influence with Proctor in getting $2500. I told him that I would not. He asked me as a friend to get the money and I told him that 'friends do not count in this kind of a deal.'"

Kinkead—"Do you recall introducing a Johnny Darrow, a man in the booze racket at Hurley, Wis., to Courtney?"

McGarry—"I never heard of the man."

Kinkead—"Where were you the day of the robbery?"

McGarry—"I was at Brainerd, Niswaga, Daggett Brook and Deerwood."

Kinkead—"What were you doing around the country that day?"

McGarry—"I was driving a car for a man."

of cross examination and was upheld by Judge Bert Fesler, presiding Judge.

The first witness called to the stand by the state today was Thorwald S. Nyhus, now cashier of the First National bank of Ironton. On questioning by County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan, Nyhus gave details of the robbery, how he and the other employees in the bank were forced to lie down on the floor while the bandits ransacked the safe and till of money. He told of later being forced into the vault with the other employees and John Lindahl, principal of the Crosby-Ironton high school, a customer present at the time of the robbery and of being later released from the vault by a former employee of the bank.

Carl Ernest Olson, assistant cashier of the bank also told incidents of the robbery. John Lindahl was also called as a witness to tell of incidents of the robbery.

Wilfred Johnson, aged 19, stated on the stand that he was standing outside the bank when the men who later turned out to be the bandits passed him, got in their car and started out towards Crosby.

He said they were laughing and that they lit cigarettes as they climbed in to the car where another man was seated behind the steering wheel.

Is to Appear at the Next Meeting of the Brainerd Musical Club

An Individualist in Dress as Well as in Musical Interpretation

At the next meeting of the Musical club, the artist will be Stell Andersen. Miss Andersen came to Brainerd a few years ago as a special Sunday afternoon concert artist. As she is an individualist in dress, as well as in musical interpretation, her appearance caused surprise and not a little apprehension. But as soon as her long, strong fingers got into action, the real music lovers in the audience neither knew nor cared how she looked—for she could play—how she could play!

Morris, in the New York Telegram, after her appearance in Carnegie Hall, made the following comment: "Her playing is never without life. She is a pianiste worth watching. Talent of an unusual sort is entirely too rare to be passed by casually. Her audience was very enthusiastic, though most newcomers in New York this season have been coldly received."

Commenting on the same appearance, Musical America said: "Stell Andersen and green-clad, a new pianiste made her local debut at Carnegie Hall. * * * Miss Andersen is an interesting pianiste. Her playing has power, technical assurance and the poetic impulse. The heroic lines of Liszt's Sonata and the wealth of its emotional content did not daunt her. The beauty of tone, the clarity, color and sustained power called for were forth-coming. Miss Andersen will be heard with respect and attention, should she again elect to play here."

The Liszt Sonata in B minor, referred to by the critic of Musical America, is on her Brainerd program next Saturday, January 12, at 3 o'clock at Elks' hall. The program in full will be published Friday evening.

EX-CHAMPION HAD AGREED TO FIGHT ONCE MORE UNDER
TEX'S GUIDANCE

New York, Jan. 8.—(UP)—Tex Rickard had planned to have Jack Dempsey fight for him this year.

A posthumous article by the late promoter, appearing in the current issue of The Ring, international boxing magazine, and copyrighted by that publication, tells of the last plans Tex made for the return of the former heavyweight champion, who now probably never will fight again.

While Dempsey's activities in the realm of boxing probably now will be confined to promoting, Rickard's article discloses that the ex-champion had agreed to try once more under Tex's guidance.

The article written by Rickard shortly before his death, follows:

By GEORGE L. RICKARD
Copyright, 1929, by The Ring, International Boxing Magazine

"Jack Dempsey will come back this year.

"The fact that he has determined to enter the ring in an attempt to regain the crown he lost to Gene Tunney and that he still is a great fighter makes it necessary for me to give him a high rating for 1928 despite his idleness.

"One cannot think of Dempsey except in terms of greatness, and therefore in his case his inactivity last year must be disregarded in the rating of the world's heavyweights, for he is a greater fighter than any now basking in the limelight and striving for the title left vacant by Gene Tunney.

"Jack Dempsey has decided to make a determined effort to regain the championship. There are thousands of fight fans through the world who feel that Dempsey is the uncrowned heavyweight king.

"Dempsey will fight only once and that one battle will be for me and it will decide the holder of the heavyweight crown. In other words, he will be one of two finalists, the other to be selected by me from among the rest of the contenders."

Rickard, in The Ring, listed the boxers in all the classes, according to what he considered was their worth in 1928. The following were named as best in their respective classes:

Heavyweight—Gene Tunney.
Light heavy—Tommy Loughran.
Middleweight—Mickey Walker.
Welterweight—Joe Dundee.
Junior welterweight—Jimmy McLarnin.
Lightweight—Sammy Mandell.
Junior lightweight—Tod Morgan.
Featherweight—Andre Rottis.
Bantamweight—Fidel La Barba.
Flyweight—Emile Padner.

BODY OF RICKARD ARRIVES AT NEW YORK

New York, Jan. 8.—The body of Tex Rickard arrived at 10:15 A. M. today from Miami Beach, Fla., and was taken with a police escort to Madison Square Garden.

A crowd of 400 or 500 gathered outside the gates of the Pennsylvania station to view the $15,000 coffin containing Rickard's body.

To prevent a crush, the casket was borne by a freight elevator to the street level where a motor hearse waited to take it to Madison Square Garden.

Mrs. Rickard, Jack Dempsey and others in the party rode up another freight elevator to escape the crowds.

Mrs. Rickard then left for the home of relatives while Dempsey went to Madison Square Garden to make funeral arrangements.

"So far as possible I'll try to carry out Tex's plans," Dempsey said, "but I can't say anything more until after the funeral."

By his statement it was inferred Jack would work for the success of the Stribling-Sharkey bout at Miami, Feb. 27, which Rickard was arranging before his death.

THREE BOXING CHAMPIONS ARE BREAKING RULE

NATIONAL BOXING REGULATIONS
REQUIRE TITLE DEFENSE
EVERY 6 MONTHS

PAUL PREHN, ASSOCIATION'S PRESIDENT, DECIDES IT'S TIME FOR ACTION

By BERT DEMBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, Jan. 8.—There being three boxing champions who have not complied with the National Boxing association rule, requiring them to defend their titles every six months, Paul Prehn, the association's president, has decided it is time for either some title risking or some suspensions.

"Our rules are going to be enforced," he said, "and the one requiring title bouts every six months is no exception."

Three of the present champions, recognized by the N. B. A., are liable to suspension. Those who have not fought in title bouts during the past six months are Mickey Walker, middleweight; Sammy Mandell, light weight; and Joe Dundee, welterweight.

Walker last defended his title on June 21, 1928, against Ace Hudkins. Mandell's last championship appearance was against Jimmy McLarnin, May 3, last year; and Dundee has been in no title bout since his battle with Latzo June 3, 1927.

Tommy Loughran is still within the association rule although on January 16, it will be six months since he fought Pete Latzo.

Prehn plans to give all champions immediate notice that the six months rule is going to be enforced. Then, if there are not some announcements of fights in which the "inactive" champions will risk their titles, the suspension will be resorted to.

Mandell has been the subject of considerable criticism regarding the manner in which he has held onto the championship. He whipped Rocky Kansas to obtain the title back in 1926 and then for months barnstormed the country with exhibition matches.

He finally ran into trouble in Minneapolis when Billy Petrolle had him hanging on the ropes in one of his exhibitions. There were many who thought Petrolle deserved a title bout but Sammy finally picked out McLarnin, whipped him, and has done no title-fighting since.

Mickey Walker has his eye on the light heavyweight title and has done some fighting against the larger boys. He could have made a lot more money battling middleweights with mighty little risk to his title.

Joe Dundee is about to be approached with an offer to defend his title against Jackie Fields here, according to an announcement made by Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter.

PRESENT CASE TO SUPPORT NINE FOOT CHANNEL FOR RIVER

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The executive committee of the Mississippi Valley Shippers' conference announced today it will be prepared to present a complete case in support of a nine-foot channel for the upper Mississippi river at the public hearing before Major C. L. Hall, district engineer at St. Paul, January 16.

The shippers' conference, a subsidiary of the Mississippi Valley association, announced after a conference here that its case would prove the economic feasibility of a nine-foot channel in the Mississippi between the mouth of the Missouri river and St. Paul.

Colonel George C. Lambert, St. Paul, who presided at the executive committee's conference here, said the committee would welcome the opportunity afforded by the public hearing.

"The agricultural and industrial resources of the upper valley states affected by river traffic are amply sufficient to justify deepening of the river to accommodate barge traffic to the Twin Cities," Lambert said.

HIGH COUNCIL OF SALVATION ARMY IN CONFERENCE

Subury-on-Thames, England, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The high council of the Salvation Army convened here this forenoon.

The council met to take up a proposal by Commander Evangeline Booth, sister of Gen. Bramwell Booth, commander in chief, to remove him from office.

Sixty-three of the 64 councillors were present at the opening. Commissioner Oliphant, commanding the army in Italy, was unable to attend because of illness.

With Oliphant absent, it will be necessary for Gen. Booth to receive only 16 votes to retain office. Rules of the army provide that three-fourths of the council must endorse any proposal to remove the commander in chief.

Police challenged all entrants to the meeting including army members in uniform.

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy

Chicago, Jan. 8.—There being three boxing champions who have not complied with the National Boxing association rule, requiring them to defend their titles every six months, Paul Prehn, the association's president, has decided it is time for either some title risking or some suspensions.

"Our rules are going to be enforced," he said, "and the one requiring title bouts every six months is no exception."

Three of the present champions, recognized by the N. B. A., are liable to suspension. Those who have not fought in title bouts during the past six months are Mickey Walker, middleweight; Sammy Mandell, light weight; and Joe Dundee, welterweight.

Walker last defended his title on June 21, 1928, against Ace Hudkins. Mandell's last championship appearance was against Jimmy McLarnin, May 3, last year; and Dundee has been in no title bout since his battle with Latzo June 3, 1927.

Tommy Loughran is still within the association rule although on January 16, it will be six months since he fought Pete Latzo.

Prehn plans to give all champions immediate notice that the six months rule is going to be enforced. Then, if there are not some announcements of fights in which the "inactive" champions will risk their titles, the suspension will be resorted to.

Mandell has been the subject of considerable criticism regarding the manner in which he has held onto the championship. He whipped Rocky Kansas to obtain the title back in 1926 and then for months barnstormed the country with exhibition matches.

He finally ran into trouble in Minneapolis when Billy Petrolle had him hanging on the ropes in one of his exhibitions. There were many who thought Petrolle deserved a title bout but Sammy finally picked out McLarnin, whipped him, and has done no title-fighting since.

Mickey Walker has his eye on the light heavyweight title and has done some fighting against the larger boys. He could have made a lot more money battling middleweights with mighty little risk to his title.

Joe Dundee is about to be approached with an offer to defend his title against Jackie Fields here, according to an announcement made by Jim Mullen, Chicago promoter.

PRESENT CASE TO SUPPORT NINE FOOT CHANNEL FOR RIVER

Chicago, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The executive committee of the Mississippi Valley Shippers' conference announced today it will be prepared to present a complete case in support of a nine-foot channel for the upper Mississippi river at the public hearing before Major C. L. Hall, district engineer at St. Paul, January 16.

The shippers' conference, a subsidiary of the Mississippi Valley association, announced after a conference here that its case would prove the economic feasibility of a nine-foot channel in the Mississippi between the mouth of the Missouri river and St. Paul.

Colonel George C. Lambert, St. Paul, who presided at the executive committee's conference here, said the committee would welcome the opportunity afforded by the public hearing.

"The agricultural and industrial resources of the upper valley states affected by river traffic are amply sufficient to justify deepening of the river to accommodate barge traffic to the Twin Cities," Lambert said.

HIGH COUNCIL OF SALVATION ARMY IN CONFERENCE

Subury-on-Thames, England, Jan. 8.—(UP)—The high council of the Salvation Army convened here this forenoon.

The council met to take up a proposal by Commander Evangelina Booth, sister of Gen. Bramwell Booth, commander in chief, to remove him from office.

Sixty-three of the 61 councillors were present at the opening. Commissioner Oliphant, commanding the army in Italy, was unable to attend because of illness.

With Oliphant absent, it will be necessary for Gen. Booth to receive only 16 votes to retain office. Rules of the army provide that three-fourths of the council must endorse any proposal to remove the commander in chief.

Police challenged all entrants to the meeting including army members in uniform.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy
